XII. Comments from Council

Councilmember Carter acknowledged Master Sergeant Travis Woods, a 30-year veteran of the Oklahoma City Police Department, for his work on a mental health call last week at the Kilpatrick Turnpike overpass, where a gentleman had debated to jump. He commended him for his great reading

XII. and understanding, as well as for taking charge of the situation, ultimately bringing the gentleman down, saving his life, and getting him the help he needed.

Councilmember Cooper stated that following the City Council meeting last Tuesday, he attended a faculty meeting with all the College of Arts professors at Oklahoma City University. Afterwards, he attended the MAPS 4 Diversion Hub groundbreaking, which was a wonderful opportunity to see the project break ground, hear elected officials, Mayor Holt and Councilmember Hamon speak about it, and see the Diversion Hub staff rooting for their leadership as well as the Arnall Family Foundation. He then rushed back to City Hall for a legislative meeting, noting that this is a typical day for him on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Councilmember Cooper commented that he had the honor of attending the first public listening of Chat Pile's new record, "Cool World," on Thursday evening at Guestroom Records OKC in the Western Avenue District. He stated that their first album, "God's Country," was well received. He mentioned that Chat Pile have been his closest friends for over 25 years, and he saw them on tour in Copenhagen, Denmark, last summer, where he learned about the city's bike lanes and sidewalk infrastructure. He also saw them in Europe almost 20 years ago on scholarship. He said he wanted to shine a light on them because they are shining a light on our city on national and international news sites, speaking about the talent that Oklahoma City is producing. He said it was cool to see his friends in that setting.

Councilmember Cooper mentioned that on Friday he went to the Tower Theater to see Shea Couleé, a RuPaul Drag Race winner, perform onstage for "National Coming Out Day." He stated that during the last City Council meeting he spoke about all the Asian District performers who came from Nebraska and up to Kansas City. He said these are the people that we are attracting to Oklahoma City. After the performance, he joined Chat Pile at The Pump Bar for a celebratory drink.

Councilmember Cooper thanked the Mayor and City Council members who attended his book release. He said it was good to see everyone, including his best friend's mother, Laura, who was sitting on the front row—just people he has known all his life from different walks of life. He said each of us has our own back stories outside of our work on Council; sometimes he feels like he is compartmentalizing parts of himself to serve in that role, but on Thursday, he felt like his whole person was finally on display: his love of teaching, storytelling, and community. He said he feels whole in a way that he has never felt in his entire life. He also thanked Councilmember Hinkle for his award-winning chili, as he was unable to attend.

Councilmember Cooper mentioned he had the opportunity to play basketball with the Oklahoma City University Women's Basketball Team. He said they have a "professor practice," where they invite professors from across the university, including the president, to play against them. He bragged that he made two 3-pointers. He said it was fun to be with those students and he thanked them.

Councilmember Peck announced the first General Obligation Bond Public Workshop will be tonight at 6:30 p.m. at the Oklahoma City Outlets Food Court, 7624 West Reno Avenue. She hopes that many residents, from all wards, will come out to voice their opinion about infrastructure, roads, and park improvements they are interested in seeing. If you are unable to attend, you can visit okc.gov/go to leave your comments.

Councilmember Stone expressed to Councilmember Cooper that he was excited to hear that he had a fantastic book release event. He apologized for not being able to attend. He said Councilmember Hinkle paid him $5 to vote for his chili, so he attended that event instead.

XII. Councilmember Hinkle mentioned that two Fridays ago, he attended the Choctaw and Southmoore High School football game at Southmoore High School. He noted that Choctaw has a student named JuJu Smith who will go a long way. He said if you have not watched him play, you need to do so. He said they beat the tar out of Southmoore; it was a blowout.

Councilmember Nice congratulated Councilmember Cooper on his book. She stated that it was a joy to support and be with him during that time.

Councilmember Nice thanked the residents who came out for the Ward 7 General Obligation Bond meeting last night at the Willa D. Johnson Recreations Center. She noted that the recreation center was a 2017 General Obligation Bond Project, and it gave people the opportunity to see it and envision what other projects could look like with the ward. She encourages all the residents, neighborhoods, churches, and ad hoc community members to come together and meet so the council members can continue advocating for those things that are needed within their respective wards and/or communities. She was very grateful for all the city staff members that were present. She said it is unique when residents can say hello and/or talk about the things that are happening around them. She re-emphasized that everyone could visit okc.gov/go to complete the survey and learn more information.

Councilmember Nice commended the Oklahoma Baptist State Convention as they are celebrating 127 years. She noted that they normally travel across the state, but this week they are in Oklahoma City, and she is grateful to have them here.

Councilmember Nice mentioned the celebration of Langston University's homecoming and accomplishments this past Saturday. She said she is grateful to have an Oklahoma City campus to support. It is the only Historically Black College and University on this side of the Midwest; it is unique to Oklahoma, as well as Oklahoma City. She will continue to support all Langston Lions efforts.

Councilmember Nice mentioned Ms. Boyd, a former community servant who became ill and was hospitalized for a month, nearly losing her home after it was declared dilapidated. She noted that Restore Homes and Restore OKC, non-profit organizations, contacted other entities to help restore her home. This past Friday, she hosted a housewarming. Councilmember Nice suggested that The City find ways to better care for our residents when reviewing these processes and policies, because sometimes our residents are too proud to speak about what is happening or ask for help. She noted that Ms. Boyd has incurred fees in excess of $5,000 plus $2,000 in interest on her property due to continued citations, which is now in the hands of the county. She also requested that Code Enforcement update the information on their handouts, let folks know we have resources available, and work in ways that prevents this from happening to other residents within the city.

Councilmember Nice expressed her condolences to and spoke about the LiveFree Peace Team member who lost his son recently to senseless gun violence. She said it is devastating to know that these conversations and cases continue to be a subject matter within our communities. She hopes that we can serve our residents better by providing lighting and nuisance abatement for private properties, convenience stores, and other businesses of this kind. Her thoughts are with everyone affected by these recent events.

Councilmember Nice encouraged people to come out and volunteer with Oklahoma City Beautiful on Saturday, October 26, 2024, at Diggs Park, where they will have fun and plant trees. She stated that Diggs Park is a beautiful and historic park. She is grateful for the opportunity to do this with Councilmember Cooper announced the Public Safety Advisory Board's information session will be on Thursday, October 24, 2024, at 6:00 p.m., at Will Rogers Garden, 3400 NW 36th Street. He noted that there are 39 recommendations on the table right now and various levels of implementation, so this is an opportunity for residents to come and hear from our city staff representative, Nicole Maldonado, about where we are with everything from the mental health alternative response implementation to violence interruption. He said he would love to see you there.

Councilmember Cooper wished Debi Martin a Happy Birthday.

Councilmember Peck acknowledged the family of former Councilmember Larry McAtee, who passed away. She noted that Councilmember McAtee had previously served in the Ward 3 seat for 20 years, and we are grateful for all his contributions to the community, not only as a councilman but also as a servant of the Lord. She extended her prayers to the family and announced the funeral is tomorrow.
