XII. Comments from Council

Councilperson Cooper thanked the Britton District for inviting him and Councilperson Nice to attend an event where residents discussed some improvements that they would like to see for that area.

Councilperson Cooper mentioned he and Councilperson Nice attended an Oklahoma City Ballet rehearsal that was open to the public. He noted they got to see dancers still honing their craft for an upcoming show; it was very neat. He congratulated Ryan Jolicoeur-Nye, on being official named Artistic Director.

Councilperson Cooper thanked the Windsor Hills Neighborhood for inviting him to attend their neighborhood meeting a couple of weeks ago on a Saturday. He mentioned the number one concern of the neighbors was homelessness. He said he got to walk them through our state's trauma statistics, and he shared some of the things that we are doing at the city level. He noted they were very engaged and took lots of notes, which was not surprising, as that neighborhood is home to our past Councilman, Larry McAtee. He thanked Councilman McAtee for inviting him a few weeks earlier to attend their "Neighbors Night Out," which was hosted by him and his wife Joann. Councilperson Cooper also congratulated Councilman McAtee as Crystal Lake Park now bears his name.

Councilperson Cooper thanked Embark and city staff for coordinating his trip to Seattle, Washington for the American Public Transportation Association Conference; it was incredible. He said he learned a lot about community land trusts and how they have a bus mural project where community members put public art on bus shelters that tell the story of that specific area and its history of contributions from Russian, Black, and Jewish residents; it was beautiful work. He mentioned our MAPS 4 resolution includes a 1% for public art and he wondered what stories our bus shelters could tell. He congratulated Tysheeka Holley, of Embark, for being recognized by the American Public Transportation Association for a video that she crafted and winning an award for "Best Marketing and Communication on the COVID-19 Pandemic."

Councilperson Cooper thanked the University of Central Oklahoma for inviting him to join the American Folklore Society panel to talk about lesbian, gay, bi-sexual, and transgender history in Tulsa.

Councilperson Cooper thanked Rodeo Cinema for asking him and Sunrise Tippeconnie to co-host the screening of the "Night of the Living Dead." He said it was well attended with over 100 people.

Councilperson Cooper thanked the Police Athletic League and the Family Awareness and Community Teamwork programs for hosting him on tours of their facilities and educating him on the work that they do. He indicated that there are no advocates for program funding, and the officers often use funds from their own pockets or turn to non-profit organizations for assistance, especially for the Youth and Enrichment Services program. He noted with a police budget of approximately $240 million and if the City is serious about crime prevention, we could prioritize these services and interrupt the cycles of crime by making sure that our kids do not become a part of that cycle. Mr. Freeman responded that he would have to work with the Municipal Counselor's Office on this issue, as there are limitations on what can be done with those programs.

Councilperson Hamon thanked OKC Beautiful, Gabreil Friedman, and the Scissortail Park staff, as this past Saturday they hosted a ribbon cutting for the art piece "Trash Monster," which was created by Gabriel Friedman and Denise Duong and made of trash that was collected around the city. She noted during the event, they had folks pick up litter and install it to raise awareness about our excessive reliance on single-use items as well as our issues of over consumption and disposal of items; and to provide a neat activation of the lower park. She said it was a great program; they had lots of educational activities for kids and adults to enjoy, and it was a neat opportunity to bring folks from different parts of the community together. She thanked Gabe and Denise for putting together something so fun, creative, and whimsical while also sending a message to help people think about their impact on our environment, specifically on the river in terms of how litter and trash affect the health and well-being of our riverfront. She also appreciated Scissortail for the agreement and their partnership in facilitating this, as well as all they do to make Oklahoma City beautiful.

Councilperson Nice mentioned she saw a picture that was taken by a young lady who was visiting from Atlanta, of her posing in front of the Trash Monster, and that name does it no justice. She stated that it clearly resonates with many of the people and visitors who come to see our art and what we are doing in our city; it also demonstrates how we are bringing more art and wanting people to be a part of what we are doing in the art scene in Oklahoma City.

Councilperson Nice mentioned she heard that Brick-or-Treat was an outstanding and well-attended event yesterday. She said her friend could not maneuver through bricktown because of it.

Councilperson Nice thanked Oakdale Public Schools and Superintendent Dr. Pierce for inviting her, along with County Commissioner Carrie Blumert to the ribbon cutting for their playground; it was gorgeous. She noted it was her first time visiting the school and students, and she was grateful for that opportunity and to see what Oakdale Public Schools are doing for our community.

Councilperson Nice mentioned today is the last day to attend the Eastside Fresh Market at Oklahoma State University Oklahoma City; it is open from 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Councilperson Nice mentioned that the Oklahoma City Metropolitan Library System has a Dolly Parton Imagination Library where it provides free books, a monthly basis to kids zero to five years of age; just register your kids and they will begin receiving books within six to nine weeks. She said she is very grateful for this kind of partnership and that it is important to become a friend of the library so we can have more programs like this for our community and young people's achievement and enrichment in reading.

Councilperson Nice congratulated Langston University and the Broadcast Journalism Department on receiving a donation of the News 9 building and fixtures from Griffin Media this past Friday during their Annual President's Student Scholarship Gala; this gift is valued at $10 million, and it is the largest in the school's history. She said for the Griffins to see the importance of broadcasting, for minorities to be a part, and in cultivating minorities in the only Historically Black Colleges and Universities on this side of the country, speaks to a whole new precedent that will resound for the students at Langston University and tell a different story of broadcasting for our country and nation. She mentioned that the Langston University Oklahoma City campus is not far from where she lives, so she will be able to walk to visit as much as she can; she can't wait. She noted everyone was overwhelmed by this gift from someone local who sees the potential in our community and people who are part of how we cultivate our city and state; pouring into their lives so that they can have a pipeline to be a part of broadcasting. She thanked the Griffin family for believing in Langston University and the sustainability of this program.

Councilperson Nice announced an Oklahoma City Public School Bond Forum will be held at Metro Technology Centers this Thursday from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.

Councilperson Nice noted Trunk-or-Treat events will be held this Saturday in the parking lot of Homeland, from 1:30 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.; on Sunday at the Garden Oaks Community Center, from 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m.; and on Halloween in the parking lot of the Ice Event Center, from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.

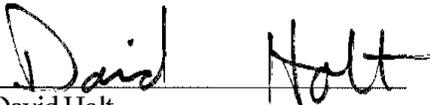

Councilperson Stonecipher mentioned the Oklahoma Bar Association announced Mike Knopp as the recipient of the 2022 Trailblazers Award, which states, "Trailblazers forge ahead where others may falter." He said Mike has definitely forged ahead in what he has done for us as the Executive Director of the Riversport Foundation. Councilperson Stonecipher read the announcement stating, "Mike has led Oklahoma City's movement towards an active outdoor culture, created meaningful change in thousands of young lives, and brought the Olympic movement to the Oklahoma City river. Today, Riversport and the Oklahoma City Boathouse District stand as a testament to his vision and the willingness of our city to embrace bold ideas." He congratulated Mike Knopp on his award.

Councilmember Stonecipher thanked the Mayor and City Council for their approval of the Consulting Agreement, which allows the Lone Oak Park project to move forward. He noted FEMA finally gave its approval to move forward on July 27, 2022; and he thanked Estella Hernandez of Senator Lankford's office for her efforts; he is very appreciative of everything she did.

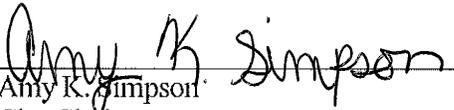

Councilperson Stonecipher thanked Chief Gourley for the briefing on the Real Time Crime Center; it is cutting-edge, state-of-the-art, and provides a new tool for combating crime. He said he hopes our local press will pick this up; and as it is developed, he hopes people will see how important of an additional tool this is to Oklahoma City's Police Department.
