XII. Comments from Council

Councilperson Stonecipher mentioned he read last week that Oklahoma City was named the "Best-Run Top-50 City in America" and ranked 11th overall. He said we have an incredible staff and group of employees and great leadership; it is a great honor.

Councilperson Stonecipher also mentioned that he read in the Journal Record yesterday that Oklahoma City's tourism is booming, and we have blown away pre-pandemic numbers. He noted The Oklahoman had an article last week on the 25 things you need to do while you are in the city. He said we need to share this at our homeowner's association meetings and encourage people to invite others to visit Oklahoma City; it helps our economy.

Councilperson Nice thanked T. O. Bowman for the opportunity to participate in the heat mapping study this past Saturday at 6:00 a.m. She said it was fun, interesting, and fulfilling to be a part of it, and it helped her realize and understand the things that are happening in our rural and urban communities and city; she was grateful for that.

Councilperson Nice commended the Community Health Centers of Oklahoma for celebrating their 50th anniversary this past Thursday at the Metro Technology Centers, and she shared the history of that organization.

Councilperson Nice mentioned Intentional Fitness OKC had their wellness fair and 5K run this past Saturday in the vicinity of The Market at East Point. She also mentioned the 2nd Annual River Bowl Classic was this past Saturday as well. She said it was fun to be around this part of our community with all the boat racing and dragon boating for folks that possibly would never come to the river on any other occasion. She congratulated the members of Star Spencer as they won bragging rights this year.

Councilperson Nice noted the first day of school happened for a lot of our students last week, and she wished them well for this school year.

Councilperson Nice announced the Eastside Fresh Market is having a back-to-school event today, from 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m., they are located on NE 63rd Street, going east towards the Oklahoma County Health Department.

Councilperson Nice mentioned that last weekend we celebrated the 50th anniversary of hip-hop, which paved the way for the expressions of art that are seen, poetry, open mic, and dancing; it created movement and culture. She noted we celebrated local hip-hop artists who were born and raised in Oklahoma City and made their mark across the country, namely J. B. Williams, who does great things in our community. She also mentioned that she worked for a hip-hop radio station prior to serving on the City Council, and understood the complexity and intricacies of music and how it relates to our communities, generations, and times that we are living in. She paid homage to what hip-hop is and what it has brought.

Councilperson Nice expressed her concerns about the zoning application that was considered earlier in the meeting. She appreciated the councilmembers for allowing the application to go back to the Planning Commission for further review.

Councilperson Hamon echoed Councilperson Nice's comments regarding the heat mapping study, and she thanked T.O. Bowman and Sarah Terry-Cobo in the Planning Department, for the opportunity participate. She said she is very excited about the data this will bring to help us apply for grants and have more targeted areas of our city that really need heat abatement addressed as we continue to have hotter seasons. She appreciated their patience with her, their monumental efforts to pull that off with the weather being a variable and all their work.

Councilperson Hamon thanked Fahad Khan for the Pakistan Independence Day Festival this past Saturday evening at Scissortail Park. She said the weather was perfect to enjoy great food, family-oriented activities, and presentations, and she learned about the history of the establishment of Pakistan as an independent nation. She appreciated the invitation and the ability to get a peek into that community and make connections, as well as their work. She congratulated them on a great event.

Councilperson Hinkle mentioned Scott Copeland, and John Rayfield gave him a great tour of the only municipally owned fish hatchery in the United States, located on the north side of the Hefner Dam. He said it is fascinating what they do with their limited resources in stocking all our ponds and lakes; they take kids in the Police Athletic League program fishing and provide them with fishing poles; and that Mr. Rayfield is brilliant and knowledgeable about fish and their needs and environments.

Councilperson Hinkle mentioned that Forbes Magazine rated Oklahoma City No. 2 out of the top 100 markets for young urban professionals to move to; we were beat by Des Moines, Iowa.

Councilperson Peck shared her thoughts about the events that occurred earlier regarding the zoning case that was considered for Councilperson Nice's ward. She hopes that in the future, citizens who have a different opinion than others will be persuaded to be kind humans and to treat humans the way they would like to be treated, and with our youth councilors sharing their concerns about mental health and safety issues for their classmates, friends, and families, this council will continue to move forward with our mental health initiative, not only for our children but for residents as well, and that we will continue to be examples of things that are better than what was seen today.

Councilperson Cooper mentioned that he also volunteered for the heat mapping study. He thanked Ryan McMullen, a former state representative, and Aaron Wilder for joining him on the tour. He shared the routes of their tour and an excerpt from NASA's website regarding record-breaking temperatures in July 2023. He also discussed the harmful effects of parking lot development and hopes that with the next bond, we will set aside funds for trees and redevelopment of strip mall parking lots as it is wasted land.

Councilperson Cooper mentioned that he joined Councilperson Nice in attending the "Pakistan Day Celebration," and it was a treat seeing the kids dressed as historical figures and reciting information. He said they are so proud of Pakistan's independence, their history and heritage, and to be a part of our American story. He gave a shout out to Sheesh Mahal, a restaurant in Ward 2.

Councilperson Cooper discussed the concerns of our Youth Council regarding anxiety, mental health, and the lack of resume-creation skills and apprenticeship programs. He suggested, as a city government, that we do a more effective job of prioritizing connecting our youth and families, particularly in zip codes that are hardest hit by unemployment and underemployment, to the Metro Technology Centers, Oklahoma City Community College, and educational programs that will get them the transferable skills they will need to become business leaders and entrepreneurs in this city. He believes this could be addressed with the construction of our new arena by mimicking Milwaukee with the creation of a hiring hall, which will not only get them the skills they need but also connect them to the mental health services that we are putting in our youth centers and constructing in our new crisis centers.

Councilperson Carter echoed everyone's comments regarding our youth councilors today. He said it is times like these, when we get to read their biographies and learn about the things they do, that he questions what he brings to this council, but it gives him a lot of hope for the future for the people that succeeds them.

He thanked everyone who tuned in today and was still at the meeting for their patience and endurance with everything that has gone on.
